Why Banking and Financial Services Fund?

Take exposure to India's largest and one of the fastest growing sector, which is directly linked to India's growth and also benefit from the timely product offering at this juncture.

All underlying sectors to which banks are exposed to are reviving after a decade of cyclical downturn and that is the best time to be invested in the sector. As a fund house we are bullish on this sector and believe this is the best time to allocate money into this sector with a 5-7 years view.

Participate in a multi year secular growth opportunity as India's penetration across corporate and retail loans, insurance, investments and mutual funds is low as compared to many emerging economies.

Traditional banking players are ready for growth as the corporate NPA problem is behind. Banks have strong capital position and credit growth is due for uptick.

Benefit from flexicap strategy that aims to invest in stocks across market caps which have strong growth

Benefit from a focused portfolio of 20-30 stocks that includes market leaders, fast growers and turnaround / restructuring stories aiming to yield optimum returns.
